Lawson Under Fire

It was learned by the Post News-Sentinel that Seaside Councilman Oscar Lawson is under investigation by Monterey County District Attorneys office for allegedly falsifying his campaign disclosure statement.

In an editorial by the Post two months ago, it was disclosed that there were discrepancies in Lawson's statement. At that time, according to managing editor Tom Nash, Lawson stated that he was prepared to support his contention that therre were no irregularities in his disclosure, and that he would provide the Post with sufficient evidenct to verify his statement of no irregularities.

"To this date we've received nothing from Lawson to substantiate his innocence," Nash said.

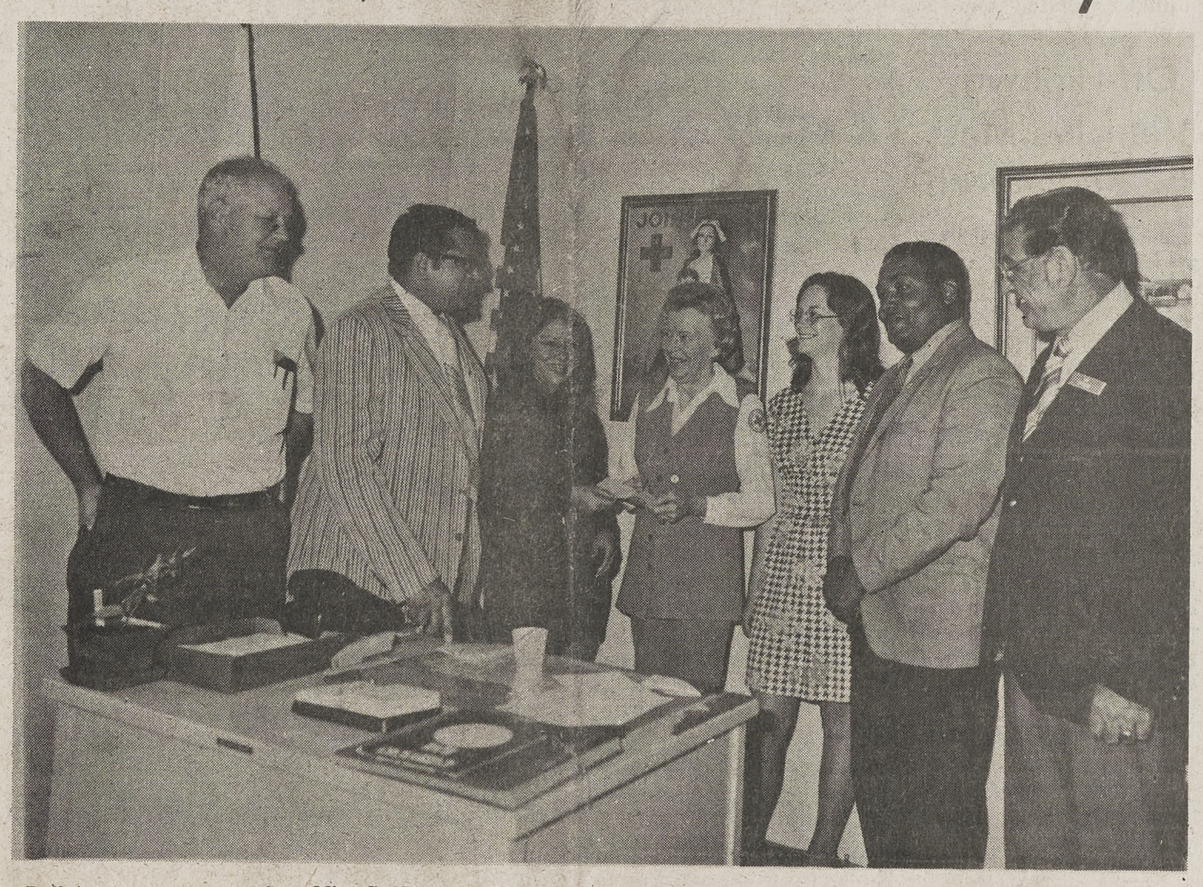

Meanwhile it was learned that certain Chamber of Commerce and Red Cross officials were irked at a remark Lawson made concerning the Red Cross's participation in assisting the John Perry family, which was burned out of their home at 1141 Sonoma Avenue . During a meeting of the Board of Directors, Chamber Manager Verlaine Crawford had apprised the Directors of the Perrys' plight. It was suggested that individual members of the Chamber be contacted to lend aid to the troubled family.

Director Ed Fisher stated that the Red Cross would provide some assistance to the family. Lawson, who was present in the audience, flatly stated that the Red Cross would not do anything. Fisher argued that he had attended a meeting of the Red Cross the day before, and he was positive that assistance was forthcoming.

Lawson was overheard to remark after the meeting to one director that one experience he had with Red Cross volunteers in Europe during his tenure in the Army was "they were supposed to be selling doughnuts, not what they were selling."

Contacted at their headquarters at 1760 Fremont in Seaside, officials said that they were in fact providing whatever assistance to the Perrys the local chapter could afford, as well as serve as a collection point for donations from interested parties such as The Concerned Citizens of Seaside who donated $50 toward helping the family regroup.

Concerned Citizens Committee Aids Distressed Seaside Family

Rallying to a cause was the Concerned Citizens Committee of Monterey County, recently, when called upon to assist the John Perry family in Seaside recently.

Shown above presenting a check in the amount of $50 to the American Red Cross, who is coordinating activities in behalf of the family are: from left to right: Leo Woicekowski, American Legion; Seaside Mayor B.J. Dolan; Oceal Gruber, Concerned Citizens Committee; Miss C. Harrison, Director of Military Personnel services, Ft. Ord, ARC; Mrs. Beth Young, chairman of the Disaster Committee, ARC; Seaside City Councilman Steve Ross; and Concerned Committee member Lou Haddad.

The Perry family, consisting of husband, wife and six children whose ages range from six to fourteen, lost their home and all of their worldly goods in a fire recently. The American Red Cross of Seaside acted as a coordinator, called on all known agencies for assistance.

Responding to the dall were St. Vincent de Paul, who donated clothing; the Monterey County Welfare cut through red tape and caused the family to be issued food stamps; The ARC is providing the family with their first month's rent on any new place acquired and is paying for their utilities to be turned on; The American Legion donated $20 and The Concerned Citizens donated $50.

Mayor Dolan expressed his thanks to the Concerned Citizens and urged support for their forthcoming fund raising activity which is a Citizen's Award Night which will be held at the F.D.E.S. (Portugese) Hall, 950 Casanova St., Monterery, Friday Night, September 13 with a banquet, show and dance which is open to the public.

Tickets may be purchased by calling (408) 394-6632.

Edmund G. B.rown, Jr. has been running tor Governor since he took the oath of office in January, 1971. In fact, he has been running so hard that he forgot to do the job of the office to which he was elected, Secretary of State.

As this writer sees it, his responsibilities include enforcement of the state's election laws. During his first year in office, he impressed the people of Califofornia with his forthrightness and sincerety in that there should be honesty in political campaigns, especially in the area of campaign practices and contributions.

But also included in California elections deficiencies are the all-important propositions which appear on ballots all over the state. Cities, counties, state and special districts constantly include on their election ballots measures which are oftentimes worded in such a fashion as to mislead or confuse the voter to such an extent that he doesn't really know whether to vote "yes" or "no."

There is no committee or person designated who may pass upon all measures as to their brevity and clarity, although the election laws provide a format by which these measures should be written. The looseness with which some propositions are allowed to be worded leaves much to be desired in this area. It would appear most appropriate for ALL California measures, whether they be local or statewide, to be submitted to either the Attorney General or the Secretary of State for proper working for clarity and simplicity.

Take Proposition 21 on the California ballot in November, 1972. It failed, and we believe for the reason that people didn't really understand it. We quote: "Regulates activities of agricultural employers, employees and labor organizations. Creates Labor Relations Boaard. Financial impact cost to state: $600,000 per year." It appears that the individual who wrote this measure didn't really want it to pass.

We are aware that any elected official who is elected to such a high statewide office as Secretary of State certainly has the wherewithal to introduce or cause to be introduced legislation in the state legislature which will accomplish what Brown has been advocating his four years in office; election refore laws. We can't recall one instance when he sponsored one piece of legislation which would achieve what he has advocated since his election.

We do recall that it took an initiative called Proposition 9 which THE PEOPLE had to place on the ballot with the able assistance of Common Cause. That's the proposition which appeared on the June 4th ballot this year which encompasses practically everything Brown says he stands for. But why should over half a million people have to sign a petition to place this measure on the ballot when the same law could have been sponsored by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown, Jr. and passed by the state legislature? Was he too busy "campaigning" for the office of Governor?

This is only one example of Brown's ineptness. How about truth in campaign statement? How about falsifieation of qualifications, or verification of employment when a person may designate himself on the ballot as a Corporation Executive" when in reality he is an assistant to an assistant? What's wrong witb making it a misdeamor to make false claims about a ballot proposition in an attempt to pass or defeat it?

How about state offices suxh as Attorney General, Controller, Treasurer, and his own office of Secretary of State being

How about state offices such as Attorney General, Controller, Treasurer, and his own office of Secretary of State being elective BUT NON-PARTISAN? These offices are appointive from a national standpoint, but certainly should remain elective on a state by state basis. Why aren't these offices up for grabs without regard to whether a candidate is a Republican or a Democrat?

We're not sure that 36 year old Junior Brown is ready to assume the awesome responsibilities of Chief Executive of the most populous state in the Union.

New CDEC Commander Named

Brigadier General Donald F. Packard will assume command of the US Army Combat Developments Experimentation Command (CDEC) at Ft. Ord in early September.

He comes to CDEC from Ft. Monroe, VA., where he currently is the Special Assistant to the Deputy Chief of Staff for Combat Developments at the US Army Training and Doctrine Command.

BG Packard replaces Brigadier General Joseph B. Starker, CDEC Commander since July 1973, who has been assigned as Assistant Division Commander, 1st Cavalry Division, Ft. Hood, TEX.

A graduate of the US Military Academy at West Point, BG Packard holds a master's degree in electronics from Purdue University.

In previous assignments he has served with the 3rd Medium Tank Battalion, 64th Armor, 3rd Armor Division in Germany; and was with the Military Advisory Command in Vietnam.

In Washington, D.C., he was assigned to the Office of the Chief of Research and Development and later served in the Systems Planning Division in the Office of the Special Assistant to the Chief of Staff, Department of the Army.

Bill Will Aid Small Businesses

Over 20,000 California small businesses will be in a better position to obtain low cost, long-term private financing for pollution control equipment under legislation introduced by Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.).

The bill, S.3886, will "help prevent shutdowns and layoffs by small businesses that cannot afford to buy anti-pollution equipment required by the new environmental regulations," Cranston said. He is chairman of the Senate Banking Subcommittee on Small Business.

"Small businesses," Cranston said, "employ 72 percent of California's workers. They are a major source of employment throughout the country and a principal supplier of raw materials."

"If a large number are forced to close because they can't meet state or federal pollution control standards, the impact on California's already endangered economy could be disastrous."

"Under the new environmental requirements," Cranston explained, "20,000 California small businesses must make capital outlays to buy and install anti-pollution equipment. Large numbers may face economic hardship because they don't have the extra money on hand and presently are unable to borrow necessary funds."

"My bill will make these companies more attractive to bond investors interested in tax-exempt pollution control revenue bonds because the government SBA guarantee will give these small businesses an A-1 credit rating. This would put them on a par with large firms and corporations in tapping the tax-exempt bond market."

Cranston said there are 13 California industries in which small businesses are seriously affected by the new environmental protection laws: grey iron foundaries; metal plating; feed lots; food and agricultural processing; stone, clay and glass; secondary metal processing paper and pulp; mining; asphalt production; leather tanning; chemical and petroleum processing; textiles; transportation.

Cranston noted that nationwide, American industry will spend over $30 billion for pollution control equipment in the next 10 years with small businesses accounting for between $5-10 billion of that amount. A survey done for the California Pollution Control Authority estimates that the 20,000 California businesses will spend $443 million over the next seven years.

"Right now," Cranston said, "a rising number of small businesses are being forced to shut down because they are unable to finance this equipment at reasonable cost. This can and must be stopped. There is no reason for the economy and the environment to be at odds."

Resource Center Renewed For Year

SIGN EXTENSION - Mrs. Roberta Snorf, president of the Junior League of Monterey County Inc., signs contract extending for another year operation of Community Schools Resource Center. Waiting their turns to sign are Dr. Troy Bramlett, standing at left, superintendent of Pacific Grove Unified School District; Dr. James Harrison, superintendent of Monterey Peninsula Unified School District and Mrs. Peggy Johnsen, center's coordinator. Carmel Unified School District is also joint participant in center, which links community resources with Peninsula schools. Center is located at Instructional Materials Center in Monterey.

Representatives of all three Peninsula school districts and the Junior League of Monterey County Inc. have signed a contract extending the operation of the Community Schools Resource Center for another year, Director Peggy Johnsen has announced.

The center, located at the Instructional Materials Center, serves as a link between the community and the schools, she explained. It maintains a file of community residents willing to visit schools to describe their porfessions, businesses, jobs, hobbies and other interests.

During its first year of operation, the center put together a file of about 750 such resource people, Mrs. Johnsen said. They made over 400 visits to classrooms throughout the Peninsula.

The center is jointly funded by the Monterey Peninsula, Pacific Grove and Carmel unified school districts and the Junior League of Monterey County Inc.

There has been enthusiastic response from the Seaside community in making use of our new office at 1475 La Salle, at the St. Francis Xavier Church. Marlene Russell, the administrative assistant and Margaret Ursetti, the social services coordinator, have had many calls from folks who are willing to put their spare time to work by helping others.

The following requests for volunteers have been made:

Construction workers, performers, clerical workers- for a new performing arts group. Call Brad Vaughn 394-6964.

Building repair workers- to repair church.

Tree trimmer- to clip tree branches to keep them from damaging house.

Drivers of trucks- to help senior citizens move and-or to help deliver vegetables to needy citizens.

We need:

Women's dresses- sizes 18 and up.

Furniture and household items- of all kinds, especially beds.

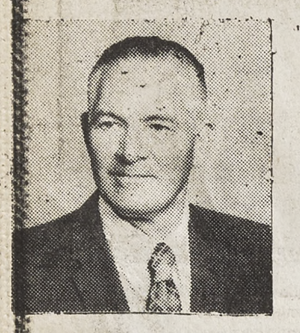

A note on Project Buddy...

There are many little boys on the Monterey Peninsula who have no fathers and are desperately in need of male guidance and companionship. If you are over 18, why don't you spend a few hours a week sharing your interest with one of those boys? There is an orientation and training class that you can take that will assist you in your association with the boy you choose.

As I See It

by Mel Vercoe

The new President says the long nightmare is over. "Nightmare" seems like a harsh term to use in describing the Nixon tenure, considering Mr. Ford's consistent assurances before the resignation that the President had not committed any impeachable offense. But now we have two immediate questions. Who will Pres. Ford select as his Vice President, and is the nightmare really over?

Unfortunately, the same general philosophy (not necessarily either Republican or Democrat) that prevailed during the Nixon years will probably continue during Mr. Ford's tenure. Mr. Ford was selected by Mr. Nixon as his V.P. largely because Mr. Ford was politically almost a carbon copy of Mr. Nixon, except that Mr. Ford happened to be honest. Most of the White House staff, Haldeman, Ehrlichmann, et al, were also selected because they leaned a lot further toward the right than toward the left. The chief Nixon aide, Alexander Haig, fell within this category, and he is being retained as Mr. Ford's adviser, as is Admiral Moorer.

The probability, then, is rather high that this will be perpetuated even further by the appointment of either Ronald Reagan or Barry Goldwater to the Vice Presidency, and going a step further we will likely see Reagan and Ford in that order representing the Republican hopes in the 1976 election.

So, maybe the dishonesty has been removed, but the general philosophy may remain, and this will not help a disenchanted population regain confidence in a White House and a Congress that have proven themselves almost completely out of touch with reality.

Letters To the Editor

An article appeared in this paper last week supporting development of the Seaside Beach property. The Committee to Save Seaside Beach decided a discussion of the statements made in this article was needed.

The reporter stated that this property is "the focal point of....down right lies." Upon an inquiry as to what these lies were, he could only state that he had heard that the opposition was saying there would be no access to the beach. This has never been said by or heard by our committee.

The reporter stated that the property is not being used. Obviously he was either not there on the weekend or never observed the dunes area which is the actual site of the proposed restaurant-notel. Even from the freeway, numerous footprints can be observed around the dunes.

Another point that we propose is that use is not the only purpose for leaving unique areas as open space. Open space is desired not simply to be stomped upon. Our coastline is as unique as and rarer than any mountainous national park or forest. We believe it should be left in its natural state and as open space for ourselves and future generations.

The reporter pointed out that the water is dangerous because of undertow and that the City Fathers may be saving lives by allowing this development. Does he really think this action will result in a less dangerous undertow?

The reporter stated that the area can be extremely hazardous because of debris. Is he saying the City Fathers are allowing a health hazard to exist on public property? The dunes area where the development will take place has less debris than some of the most used beaches. And as for the hazardous debris along Robert's Lake run off (not the beach), a boy scout troop could clean that up in one afternoon whereas the reporter claims that to make the beach habitable would take thousands of taxpayers' dollars. When questioned, he had no idea of how much money although he felt informed enough to claim this would cause taxes to skyrocket.

The reporter called the beach property of Seaside an eyesore. Look at the beach areas holding the Holiday Inn and the M-shaped apartments and rear buildings on Monterey's Del Monte Beach and you'll see beach property turned in to an eyesore. We believe this reporter looked at a small area where the water runs off from Robert's Lake and ignored the whole dunes and beach area.

As far as tax money coming into the city and jobs being available, the Gateway Center now reaching capacity and the K Mart Center besides a new motel being built on Fremont Ave. will provide additional money to the City plus construction jobs and numerous other jobs. Should everything be sacrificed to the almighty dollar?

This reporter stated that revenue from this establishment would reduce your tax dollars. Did the Gateway Center do this? It didn't! So why would this restaurant-motel do this?

Let the city build its motels and restaurants (there is a considered site in the Laguna Grande project) but not on the beach property.

Why are the "powers that be" after the hide of freshman Seaside City Councilman Oscar Lawson? Is it because he is an assistant to Supervisor Roger Poyner, or is it partisan politics, or is it because Lawson opens his mouth and says things the power structure think would be better left unsaid? The so called guest editorials that have appeared in the Seaside Post leave the impression they were written by someone whose ox has been gored.

The are five elected officials on the Seaside City Council and every time they vote on an issue, somebody disagrees with them, it is impossible to please everyone and frankly I for one do not want a rubber stamp councilman.

Oscar Lawson is a duly elected member of the Seaside City Council, it does not matter if he was elected by a margin of 16 votes or 16 thousand votes, he is still duly and legally elected. Apparantly we have a few people that do not believe in the electoral process and are using the local newspaper as a platform to costigate and attempt to intermediate on neutralize opposition. I personally do not agree with all of Lawson's votes on issues, but his cells are united a little differently than mine. Give the man a chance to learn his way around, he may surprise you with his effectiveness.

Report From State Controller

Investment of temporarily idle State funds at the high interest rates of a tight-money market earned California over a quarter-billion dollars during 1973-74, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported today.

"These investment earnings which totaled a record $258.8 million helped the State keep up with inflation of its costs without having to ask the taxpayers for more money," Flournoy said.

"Of course, inflation also helped create the earnings by increasing the amount of money raised by various tax programs and available for investment beyween the time it was received and when it was needed to meet government costs."

Most of the earnings, $232.8 million, resulted fom investment of funds authorized by the Pooled Money Investment Board. The balance of the earnings came from 15 separate State investment programs.

"The total earnings were $118.4 million greater than in 1972-73, while the Pooled Money Investments gained $107.7 million over the prior year, an increase of more than 80 percent in both cases," Flournoy said.

"In addition to inflation and rise of the average interest earning rate from 5.55 percent in 1972-73 to 8.97 percent in 1973-74 a major factor in the increase was the steady cash flow attributable to State income tax withholding. This provided a continuous cash liquidity which avoided the costs of temporary borrowing and made the maximum funds available for investment.

State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest again demonstrated the investment expertise which for almost eight years has attained the best possible return in keeping with meximum protection of the taxpayer's money and the State's fiscal needs."

Treasurer Priest directs all of the investment activities as well as serving as Chairman of the Pooled Money Investment Board on which Flournoy and Finance Director Verne Orr also serve.

Flournoy said that since the Pooled Money Investment program started in 1955, it has earned more than one billion dollars for the State.

"The growth has been steady but there has never been anything to compare with the combination of circumstances which skyrocketed earnings in 1973-74," Flournoy said. "It is interesting to note that the $258.8 million interest earning for 1973-74 is several millions greater than the entire State budget 30 years ago in 1943-44."

Flournoy said that in accordance with law the Pooled Money Investment earnings were divided among the General Fund ($165.7 million), participants in the Surplus Money Fund ($65.5 million), and participants in the Condemnatioon Deposts Fund ($1.6 million). The earnings from other investment programs went directly to the funds involved.

Off-Highway Vehicles Must Be Registered

Many owners of off-highway vehicles are laying themselves open to arrest by failing to register them or get identification stickers for them, California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said today.

With four exceptions, all off-road vehicles, including motorcycles, dirt bikes, minibikes, four-wheel-drive vehicles, dune buggies and snowmobiles -- must carry the identification sticker issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles. The exceptions are:

-- commercial vehicles;

--vehicles operated only on private property by owners or tenants;

--vehicles operated off highway on closed courses in organized, government-sanctioned events.

--motorcycles manufactured before 1943.

Without a sticker or license plate, non-exempt off-road vehicles are subject to being cited by the California Highway Patrol if they are even towed or transported in a truck on a public road.

A total of 175,000 off-highway vehicles now bear the sticker, the Department of Motor Vehicles reported, although a recent DMV survey indicates that Californians own many times that number.

And renewals of the two-year stickers are coming in - in a trickle - despite the fact that a penalty raised the registration fee from $15 to $18 on August 1 and another will raise it to $30 at the end of the month.

DMV has sent out renewal bills to owners of 128000 of these vehicles, but has received the renewal fee from only 60,000.

Of the regular $15 fee, four dollars goes to local government in lieu of personal property tax, five to DMV for registration expenses, and six to the Off-Highway Vehicle Fund in the Department of Parks and Recreation to provide places where off-highway vehicles may be operated.

Gathering Is Scheduled

More than 200 vintage MGs and their oweners will meet on the Monterey Peninsula the weekend of Sept.27-29 for the second annual West Coast "Gathering of the Faithful".

The "Gathering" is a three-day convention of owners of the classically-styled "T" series (and older) MGs, the little British sports cars that hold more racing records than any other cars in their class.

Owners of 1955 and older MGs may obtain registration information by writing to Charles "Skip" Kelsey, 3895 Mammoth Cave Court, Pleasanton, CA 94566.

The event will offer spectator value for non-MG owners, too. Car displays are planned at the Del Monte Hyatt House in Monterey on Saturday, Sept. 28 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Sunday from 9 to 10 a.m. A flea market is set for Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., and the classic little cars will tour the famous Seventeen Mile Drive on the Monterey Peninsula on Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon.

New EDD Region Administrator Named

Mary Jane Gerber of Sacramento has been named administrator of Region I in the Operations Branch of the State Employment Development Department.

The appointment was announced by EDD Director Richard Camilli, to be effective August 26. Camilli said that Ms. Gerber's new post results from rotational reassignment of executives within departmental branches.

She succeeds Raymond F. Roth, who will become chief of the Division of Planning, Projects and Evaluation, Program Services Branch.

Ms. Gerber will assume direction of the activities of 75 EDD field offices which provide job placement, manpower programs, unemployment insurance and disability insurance services to residents of 38 of California's 58 counties. Region I includes all counties from Fresno and Monterey north, with the exclusion of Inyo, Mono and the six counties which border upon San Francisco Bay.

Regional headquarters and most of a field office support staff of 45 are located at 3211 S St. in Sacramento.

Ms. Gerber joined the department in July of last year, as chief of the Program Support Division. Immediately prior, she was deputy director of the California Health and Welfare Agency's Consolidated Data Center, and before that was a special assistant to the director of the then Department of Health Care Services.

She is a 1960 graduate of Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, with a B.S. in mathematics. After graduate study at Louisiana State University, she was employed in data processing by General Dynamics Corporation in San Diego. She came to Sacramento with Aerojet General Corporation in 1967, and entered state service with the Division of Highways in May, 1968. She moved to Health Care Services in June, 1970, as a data processing systems analyst.

Ms. Gerber, 35, and her husband, Edward, reside at 5391 Hale Court. Mr. Gerber is the legislative advocate for San Diego County.

TO-WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
Any individual, firm or agency who plans to build or place a structure in, on, under, or over the navigable waters of the United States must first obtain a permit from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Such permits are also required for any dredging, filling, or dredge disposal in navigable waters. Regulations governing the administrative procedures on permits for activities in navigable or ocean waters were published in the Federal Register on April 3, 1974 as 33 CFR 209.120.

Navigable waters are any waters which are, have been, or can be used for commercial or navigation purposes. Federal permit authority extends over the entire surface of such a water body. Thus, any work in areas presently or formerly subject to tidal action (below the plane of mean higher high water, including unfilled areas behind dikes) or below the ordinary high water mark of rivers and rivers and streams may require a Corps permit.

The Federal Corps of Engineers permit is required in addition to any State or local permits. Private ownership of land under or beside the water has no effect on the requirement. If work is done in navigable waters as described above without a permit from the Corps, civil or criminal actions (including removal) can be instituted pursuant to 33 U. S. Code Secs. 406, 407, and 1319. Any questions regarding permits for work in navigable waters may be directed to the Regulatory Functions Branch, San Francisco District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco 94102, telephone: (415) 556-5178 or 556-5489.

THREE FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT PG&E RATE INCREASES.
ONE:
With only one exception, PG&E rate increases in the past three years have been to offset the higher prices we, PG&E, must pay for fuel oil and natural gas.
TWO:
PG&E rates must reflect the general overall inflation which affects everyone. We can no more control the costs of materials and services we have to pay for than you can control the cost of food, clothing, interest rates, etc.
THREE:
PG&E rates are among the lowest in the nation. Of the 13 largest U.S. cities, only Dallas and Houston have lower gas and electric rates than San Francisco.
Another Fact: You can hold down your utility bill by using energy wisely...conserving when and wherever you can.
